Form B: California Career Pathways Trust
Overall Summary – Page 2

Complete the form below with an overall description of the proposed project in this application. Describe each targeted pathway and major partnerships.

SVCPC builds on a foundation of strong partnerships and success to connect and expand the structures and resources that already exist, and forge new career pathway partnerships modeled on their success. In partnership with Hartnell-based Program Specialists, the Workforce Investment Boards will convene employers and educators to better understand local labor market needs and skills gaps, to develop industry career pathway curricula, and broker work-based opportunities for students and teachers. An online career pathways tool for students, teachers and administrator, will support career exploration, self-assessments, progression of coursework, student outcomes data, and transfer between secondary and postsecondary school. SVCPC will be successful when 9-14 education and training career pathways are actively informed by industry, driving economic vitality for individuals and the region as a whole. Measurable outcomes of success fall in three categories: 1. Greater multi-sector collaboration; 2. Increased career pathway work-based learning experiences and certificate/degree attainment by students; 3. Seamless transitions from middle to high school, high school to college or employment, and from college to further education or employment.
